Many people believe that it's better to have the worst house on the best street, than the best house on the worst street. At least with the farmer you have potential to add value and make money on it.

If you can always priorities where you live over what you live in. you can update, extend or Rebuild the house, but you can't move it somewhere else.

Choosing the right house in the wrong location could cause problems furthur down the line, especially if you need to sell the property swiftly
